John Cabot University

PREFACE

Forty years ago, in Rome, a small liberal arts American college called John Cabot University was founded. Since then, John Cabot University has seen an exceptional growth in educational offerings, enrolment, and academic quality, thanks to the eminent role played by the JCU Faculty - indeed the flagship of the University. Professors have always been very important patrons and partners of the Frohring Library in its endeavor to create a vibrant learning environment. And their contribution to creativity and knowledge is not limited to teaching.

In this 40th anniversary, wishing to collect, preserve, and provide access to the intellectual output of our community, the Library presents JCU Authors 2012. Like the past JCU Authors edition in 2009, the exhibition is not exhaustive but rather showcases a broad selection of the works produced by current professors (this time also including an alumna). JCU Authors 2012 intends to offer the JCU community an opportunity to learn about unseen aspects of the lives of its academic community, their interests and activities.

The catalog records all the items shown in the exhibition, listing authors in alphabetical order. Under each name are three categories:

- authored books, book chapters, and journal articles;
- edited books;
- contributions by JCU authors in works by other authors.

Each category is sorted in alphabetical order.

The present booklet also includes the historical list of all the professors who have taught at John Cabot University since 1972, generously compiled by Hellen Vera Chilelli. 531 persons who have contributed to JCU achievements, ideally invited to celebrate with us.

Mary Merva, Susan Fuller and Elisabetta Morani
